

Training on Field Identification of Wood for RFOs of Karnataka State Forest Department at
Institute of Wood Science & Technology, Bangalore (February 21-23, 2012)

The Wood Properties and Uses (WPU) division of this Institute has organized 3 days training for RFOs of various forest divisions of Karnataka during February 20-23, 2012. The training included lectures as well as hand-on-sessions on methods of identification of about 20 important wood species that are predominantly grown in forest areas of Karnataka and surrounding states and being traded heavily.

Lecture sessions on field identification of wood

The trainees doing practice on identification of wood

Distribution of certificates to trainees by the Director, IWST