

RFRI, Jorhat celebrates World Forestry Day Celebration-2012 in collaboration with Youth Group

The Rain Forest Research Institute, Jorhat celebrates World Forestry Day on March 21, 2012 in collaboration with 'UTTARAN', a youth group mainly devoted to work for the eco-development along with livelihood and environmental security. On this occasion, plantation programmes were organized jointly by the young group and Scientists, Officers and Staffs of RFRI. Avenue plantations with important avenue trees and also plantation in interspaces in the Areca nut home gardens of local farmers with aromatic plants, such as Patchouli were done. The main aim of the plantation in the home garden is to create awareness about the adoption of agroforestry system for enhanced revenue earning.
